"And I hope that is why the State of Alabama afforded us this law so small organizations can put on events without liability."

Due to the fact that the group has an event scheduled for Saturday, they requested immediate answer from the commission.

After several minutes of discussion, Commissioner Bernest Brooks made a motion that was seconded by Commissioner Bill Faulk to allow the team penning group to be exempted from the liability insurance requirement.

Faulk commented that since the state legislature passed a law to cover this particular situation, he felt that the commissioners should approve Tatum's request.

In a 5 to 1 vote, the commission agreed to waive the requirement of the team penning association to furnish liability insurance. Not wanting to go against county policy, Commissioner Chairman Lawrence Creel abstained.

The commissioners will further study the situation and asked that the group continue to seek prices for liability insurance policies covering these type events; even though, the state law is in place exempting them of liability.

Coffee County Sheriff-elect Ben Moates came before the commissioners requesting their approval on a grant request.

The grant application for the funding of an additional deputy sheriff through President Clinton's Crime Bill has to be submitted by January 15th in order to be considered.

Presently, the sheriff's department has one chief deputy, two investigators and five deputies whose responsibilities are to patrol, investigate and serve warrants and/or other legal papers.

Since June '94 deputies have answered 579 calls or complaints. In 1993, they served more than 18,000 legal documents and served in excess of 5,000 arrest warrants.

Moates noted that an additional deputy is badly needed at this time. The salary of the deputy would be approximately $20,000. Should the 3-year grant be received, 25% of the deputy's salary would be paid with funds received the first year. The second year, 50% of his salary would be funded through the grant while 75% would be paid in the third year of the grant. After the third year, the county would be responsible for the entire salary should he be retained.

The commissioners agreed to proceed with the grant application while continuing to seek additional information as to what the grant will actually do.

County Engineer Mark Pool requested and received authorization to draft a proposed change to the county's sub-division regulations concerning "Private Road Subdivisions." He will submit the proposed change after it is written to the commissioners for their approval or disapproval.

In other matters of business, the commissioners took the following action:

Awarded the bid for herbicide to Bradshaw Pest Control of Elba. Their bid was $474.91 per 3 pound container of Oust and $476.85 of a 2-1/2 gallon container of Arsenal. They were low bidder after the 3% additional costs added for local businesses was applied.

Accepted the low bid of $67,234.00 on a rubber tire loader from Thompson Tractor Company of Dothan.

Approved credit for landfill use to Bobby Sims, a roofing contractor in Elba, and Pathway Inc. of New Brockton.

Approved a request by the City of Enterprise to have the county engineers to inspect their bridges. All bridges over 20 feet in length have to be inspected and certified every two years. This is a requirement of the state highway department.

Voted to send out bid requests for a pan (earth moving equipment) to be used at the county landfill. Pool pointed out that this piece of equipment is already in the FY 95 budget.

Homecoming will be held at New Brockton Saturday night, January 14. Activities will begin at 6:00 p.m. in the gym. The basketball game will begin at 7:00. New Brockton will play Southern Normal.

Former basketball players and cheerleaders who attended New Brockton High School are urged to attend.

handicapped, was nearing completion and should be finished well before March. This is when an inspection team will be in to inspect the town's facilities.

Council members were advised that a grant application was being submitted for sewer work to be done on Tyler Street and along U.S. Hwy. 94. The funds, should they be received, will be in excess of $300,000.

Councilman Charles Cole presented council members with several requirements and recommendations concerning the police department and received approval on all of them.

He asked that 4 pursuit tires be purchased for police car #2 at a cost of $244.36; new uniforms (1 pair of pants & 2 shirts) for five officers at a cost of $83 each; recommended that Elliot King be hired temporarily while full-time officers are in the academy; and that Officer Darrell Griswold's salary be increased from $5.32 to $5.38 per hour.

Councilman Robert Miles voiced his opposition in the hiring of King stating that he felt that reserve officers should be given first opportunity at the job.

Prior to adjourning, Mayor Holley expressed her concern that the town has no ordinance dealing with the permitting or allowing of parades and/or marches within the town limits. Other council members shared her concern.

The mayor stated that she would research the matter with the League of Municipalities and return a recommendation to the council.

Other matters addressed by the council were as follows:

Re-appointed Dorothy Flowers and Doug Smith to the Zoning Board of Adjustments.

training classes for towns' elected officials to be held in Montgomery on February 18. The cost will be $50 per person.

Mayor informed council members of a meeting to be held at the state highway department in Troy on Jan. 12 at 5:00 p.m. The meeting will deal with the needs of the town from the highway department during the next 20 years.

Approved the purchase of tools and rain gear for street department employees. Also approval was given to purchase new street signs as required.

Approved the attendance of council members wishing to do so to

Prior to administering the oath-of-office to the two men, Judge McAliley read the Ten Commandments for New Judges.

"When I was first elected as judge eighteen years ago, then Circuit Judge Eris F. Paul gave me a copy of the following," said McAliley. "I pass it along and hope it has as much meaning for you during your judicial career as it has had for me."

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

We didn't make it to Montgomery Monday for any of the inauguration ceremonies. However there was time to do some reminiscing of trips to past swearing in ceremonies when we did attend. The weather this year was chilly, but not freezing cold as it always was "in the good ole days." Our experiences go back to the second Big Jim Folsom swearing in ceremony as a member of a school's marching band. The memories are of freezing temperatures and "winds at least 100 miles per hour." Now that may be a bit of editorial license resorted to remembering the good ole days, but it really was very cold and windy.

Those of us who grew up reading Dick Tracy comics and saving coupons, etc., for Dick Tracy two way wrist radios should be looking forward to 1996. That is when Timex watch company plans to start selling a watch which gives news updates and/or sports reports at the push of a button. They are teaming up with a company which will broadcast the information continuously and the new wrist watch will be the highly mobile receiver.

We had a visit Tuesday from a local citizen having a battle with the IRS. He ain't the first of us to walk that path and will not be the last. The discussion of his efforts to convince someone in the IRS that he had already paid the money they were demanding reminded us of the problems of another local man with the Alabama tax folks. This time it was the Unemployment folks and it was for a 5¢ (yes a nickel). We have a copy of Gerald Boswell's Debit Memorandum dated 10-13-94 in which they billed him for a $5 assessment due, plus 57¢ interest and a $5.00 penalty! Needless to say Mr. Boswell was a bit upset, as he should have been. Government types assure anyone asking that they don't waste time money and energy trying to collect nickels, but here is "a computer slip" or whatever because they did it again. By the way, Gerald cleared it for us to use his name and he will probably still spill his frustrations to anyone who asks about the matter.

There has been a lot going on within the Elba school system lately and more will follow. First, Principal Charles Clark retired. Assistant Principal David Stokes has officially moved into that position. Now, long time Athletic Director and football coach Mack Wood has announced his retirement in March. The schools will now be hiring an assistant high school principal and a football coach and maybe others if either of these positions is filled with in-house personnel. Good news to school board members is the report of a big jump in tax revenues collected for the schools. Already, just months into the new fiscal year, Superintendent Charles Pearce reports a 20% boost in income above budget projections! Both District E and countywide property tax income is up as is the city sales tax for November.

Sunday afternoon the crowd attending the announced swearing in of Circuit Judge Tom Head and District Judge Steve Blair was overwhelming. We were wondering on the way to the courthouse just how many people would be there. Never in our wildest dreams did we expect what we found! The seats were all full, chairs up front were full of family members, the aisle was full, and people were several deep around the walls. We don't know how many, but a large number of people were spilled over into the small courtroom and into the stairwells outside the two main doors! It is a credit to both men that so many well wishers gave up a major part of their Sunday afternoon to be present for this ceremony. Of course, Sheriff Bengie Moates could challenge this and contend the people were there to witness him taking his oath of office... and we must admit some in the crowd were his family members. However the event was advertised as being for the two judges and we therefore credit them for most of the crowd.

Time Has Come for Balanced Budget Amendment

About a year ago, a gutless Congress turned and ran from responsibility when it was tasked to put an end to federal budget deficits. This week, the U.S. House has a chance to reverse that act of fiscal cowardice, and at the same time, secure a better future for our children. The time has finally come to pass a federal balanced budget amendment.

Controlling spending is the primary means to controlling the federal deficit. Just trusting politicians to do the right thing has failed the nation miserably. Not a single federal budget has been balanced since the Dwight Eisenhower Administration. Institutional reforms that would pressure Congress to cut its spending are the only way to have a positive effect.

A recent Washington Post ABC News poll showed that more than 75 percent of Americans favor a balanced budget amendment. Because the best way to cure an addict is to restrict his access to his addiction, the public knows the deficit spending-addicted Washington politicians can no longer be allowed any leg room to charge our country into the red.

America's national debt is currently surpassing $4.3 trillion. As a result, each of us is walking around with a $17,000 debt share, which will continue to grow as it is inherited by our children and grandchildren. This debt affects our national standard of living and our ability to remain a viable economic power on an increasingly competitive world stage. In short, the public has decided that Washington should relinquish its open-ended credit card and begin to spend only what it takes in.

Therefore it is no surprise that the number one item in the Republican Congress's "Contract with America" is the balanced budget amendment. This week, lawmakers will have a chance to vote on this long-awaited legislation. It is interesting to note that many who oppose the balanced budget amendment often charge that its passage would tamper with the Constitution, as if it could be broken or caused irreparable harm in the process.

The fact is the Founding Fathers explicitly addressed economic issues throughout the Constitution. Tax policy, monetary policy, trade, regulation, and private property rights are just some of the many economic issues dealt with in this revered national document. A balanced budget amendment is already part of most state constitutions and appears to have served them well.

Again the opponents say a balanced budget amendment is just for show and is a means to avoid making real choices about how to balance the budget. Well, I disagree. The balanced budget amendment would actually force lawmakers to make the hard choices that we have successfully evaded until now.

Naysayers also claim that a balanced budget amendment will mean massive tax increases and Social Security benefit cuts. Again they're wrong. The balanced budget amendment contains a tax limitation provision that would not allow Congress to resort to big tax increases. Moreover, Social Security need not be cut to balance the budget. In fact, its own solvency would be enhanced by a balanced federal budget.

There is no better argument to balance the budget than the $230 billion that we spend each year just to pay the interest on the national debt. Wouldn't it be nice to use that money on education, job training, or how about a tax cut for hard working Americans? Let's bite the bullet for America and pass the balanced budget amendment.

Richard Clark makes a difference for the children of St. Jude

Elba native Richard Clark has spent the past six years as a pharmacist at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis. The renowned research center founded by the late entertainer Danny Thomas is recognized as a world leader in treating such catastrophic diseases of infancy such as leukemia, brain tumors, and pediatric AIDS.

Richard, a 1974 graduate of Elba High School who attended Troy State University and earned his pharmacist degree at Auburn University School, says working with these special youngsters has changed the way he thinks about things. Since being a member of the St. Jude Hospital staff, he says, "I think much more about other people than I do about myself. I used to be centered more on me."

Although his job required him to be familiar with patients' names and treatment information that's housed in the hospital's computer system, Richard says the children of St. Jude represent far more than data reflected on a screen. He explains that as a physician's orders are written, they're photocopied and handed over to him. He then looks up the patient in the computer, compares the order with those already listed, checks to see if there are any drug interactions and makes sure the medications are given in the correct dosages and at the right times.

Richard sometimes has to question the patient about the medication. For example, if tests indicate a patient's drug level for a specific drug is too low, Richard needs to know why.

He says, generally speaking, the patients tend to respond to him in a different light than they do to the St. Jude doctors and nurses. "I don't give them the shots and I'm not the bad guy who has to let them know their treatment isn't going well. Unfortunately, I also don't get to be the good guy who tells them when things are going well for them."

Richard admits working with fatally ill children carries a high degree of stress and might explain why his favorite away-from-work hobby is the martial art Taekwondo. It's also important not to carry the job home with him, which isn't always an easy task since in April he married Emily Lyn Pierce, a St. Jude bone marrow transplant nurse.

But the positive outweighs the negative for Richard and he says, "Even when my days are hectic, I feel I've accomplished something. I feel I'm attaining my goals because I'm helping children and I'm trying to make things better for them. When he first moved to Memphis, he worked at two other hospitals before joining St. Jude and admits he was a "little tentative" dealing with pediatric patients and, on top of that, cancer patients.

"I'd really never had any experience with either, but I decided to give it a try and I'm glad I did." He says there is also much to be said for spending your days in a teaching environment because working with the faculty here affords the opportunity to learn a lot of new procedures and techniques and the people at St. Jude are good teachers.

Richard, the son of Elba's Dr. and Mrs. James H. Clark, admits that before joining St. Jude he worried that it might be a depressing place to work. "I thought people would have a hard edge to them and be so focused on their research and the children that they wouldn't be friendly. It was totally wrong. The staff is extremely open and friendly and we work well as a team."

"I just think that what we're doing at St. Jude is very special; there are so few hospitals in the world doing the kind of research and care that we're offering."

Richard says the one unifying point that seems to draw all the staff together is their mutual care and focus toward the patient. "St. Jude has some brilliant people on its staff, but the most important people at St. Jude are the patients. They have a higher priority than any of us. If it takes working a 12-hour day to help a patient, then that's what you do."

Expressing the philosophy that has made St. Jude Hospital enjoy such a famous reputation, not only for its research but also for its compassion, Richard says, "I'm here to learn, but the main reason I'm here is for the children. I'll do whatever's necessary to help the patients."

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital recently dedicated a new patient care center, a 200,000-square-foot, state-of-the-art facility signaling completion of a major portion of the hospital's seven-year, $140 million renovation and expansion plan. The expansion was funded by ALSAC (American Lebanese Syrian Association of Charities), the fund raising organization founded by Danny Thomas with the sole purpose of supporting the hospital. All St. Jude patients are treated regardless of their ability to pay, with ALSAC covering all costs beyond those reimbursed by third party insurers and total costs when no insurance is available.

Persons desiring more information on this program in Coffee County should telephone the RECD office at 894-5593.

Contact Social Security if you are planning retirement in 1995

"If you're thinking about retiring in 1995, now is a good time for you to contact Social Security to see which month is best for you claim benefits," according to Jerry C. Kizort, Social Security manager for Dothan, AL.

"In some cases, the month you choose for retirement could mean additional benefits for you and your family. Under current rules, many people can receive the most benefits possible with an application that's effective in January. And, depending on your earnings and benefit amount, it may be possible for you to collect Social Security benefits while continuing to work," Ms. Kizort stated.

For more information about when you should apply for Social Security benefits, or to arrange for an appointment to talk with a Social Security representative, call 800-792-6287.

???Question Corner???

by Cary Clark & Dawn Grimes

Sadly, there is a trend at Elba High School that is quickly growing. The downward spiral is the loss of school spirit and lack of participation on behalf of the students at EHS. Unfortunately, this attitude is not confined merely to the gym or the football or basketball fields. A disinterested attitude penetrates practically every classroom, causing teachers and students alike to wonder where the root of this problem lies. The blame does not rest on the shoulders of any members of the faculty or staff, but solely on those of the students affected. In recognition of this sad change in the school spirit at EHS, the journalism staff took the opportunity to poll several students on the subject. The students responded to the question, "Why do you think EHS is losing its school spirit?"

Grady Whitman: "I think there is nothing wrong with the school spirit." Griffin Sharley: "Elba High athletic teams are getting tougher. When the teams lose, people think it is because they are sorry and have no pride. The real reason is because they are forced to play bigger schools since small teams will not play us anymore. This causes a lack in school spirit."

Van Smith: "Elba is losing school spirit because it is falling into repetitious patterns; plus more and more students don't participate in many school activities because they're getting bored with the opportunities Elba has to offer."

Emily Crowe: "I feel that some student at Elba High has become lazy. It is easier to laugh or make fun of a team rather than joining and perhaps making it better."

Kayla Phillips: "It seems like everyone has lost interest in the things that go on at school."

Mary Margaret Jacobs: "No one cares about anything anymore. All our students care about is just 'hanging out'. Students at EHS no longer have any ambition."

COUNSELOR'S CORNER

SAE is offering scholarships to qualified students who are interested in the study of engineering and other sciences. Types of scholarships are: unsponsored scholarships, the applicant only has to enroll in an engineering program accredited by the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology (ABET) at any university. Unsponsored scholarships are paid directly to the institutions rather than the student. University-sponsored scholarships require that the named university be attended and might require that a specific program of engineering be pursued. Eligibility requirements all applicants must intend to earn a degree in engineering, all applicants must have a least a 3.5 GPA for the tenth and eleventh grades.

The NCEM Vikes Club at Fort Rucker, Alabama, will be awarding scholarship grants to qualified graduation high school seniors of 1995. To qualify, students' parents must either be or have been in any military service, must have a 2.0 or better GPA, must live within a 30-mile radius of Fort Rucker, and must show proof of parent's military status. Melissa is getting used to her broken arm and now is able to do just about anything she really wants to do. We still have to put on her socks, tie her shoes and help her get dressed; however, she is able to get in and out of bed without any assistance and is back in school without any major problems. Having a broken arm is certainly no fun, but she has gotten out of feeding the dogs, changing the cat litter and taking out the garbage, which isn't all bad!

WOOD'S RESIGNATION IS END OF AN ERA AT ELBA HIGH

When Elba's Coach Mack Wood announced his resignation as the head football coach and athletic director at Elba High School last week it marked the end of perhaps the most successful era in the rich history of Elba Tiger football.

Elba's football program struggled through a series of losing seasons in the mid-1970's and the Tigers were no longer feared around South Alabama and the state. Coach Wood stepped in and turned the program around almost immediately, and like they say "the rest is history."

Coach Wood has always been plain spoken and honest when dealing with any situation, and that trait has often ruffled the feathers of some fans, players and fellow coaches. He has always been fair with everyone he has dealt with; however, and has helped turn the lives around of many young men in Elba that might have been headed in the wrong direction. All the wins are part of history and are in black-and-white, but the behind the scenes things done by Coach Wood over the years will be what I remember most. He was misunderstood by those who didn't know him, and by many who did, and I'm sure there are some who developed an opinion without ever even meeting the man.

Mack Wood came to Elba at a very important time in the history of the school and its athletic program. Coach Wood returned the Elba Tigers into a state power in football, helped unite the entire community behind the program and did more for school pride and school spirit than anyone has ever done, ever! Sure, Coach Wood was somewhat of a loner and didn't drink coffee at the corner drug store like many fans would have liked, but he was "The Coach" and was respected far and wide for his abilities in the field of athletics.

When Coach Wood hangs up his whistle on March 31 he will leave as the winningest coach ever in the history of Elba Tiger football, and will be remembered as the coach that put two state championship trophies in the trophy case. He should also be remembered as the coach who helped send many young men on to college with athletic scholarships and as the coach who put the program back together after the flood that destroyed not only the school, but the town, and the lives of many of his students. The people who saw Coach Wood on the field on Friday nights and talked to him after a game, or at the post office or convenience store, had no idea of what he was really like. I feel honored to have known Coach Wood for the past 18 years, and feel like I know him perhaps as well as anyone in Elba. His absence at Elba will create a void, and like him or not, will mark the end of an era.

Good luck Coach, and thanks!

TIGER BASKETBALLERS BEGINNING TO JELL

The Elba Tigers claimed a big win over Luverne last week and it looks like the Tigers are beginning to jell as a unit after a slow start due to a schedule that had more open dates than it did games.

Coach Danny Weeks may not have the most talented players in the area, but every single one of the players gives it all they've got in practice and in the games, and against Luverne the intensity was the difference in the game. The shooting wings will begin to fade as the team gets more games under its belt, and if the intensity will remain, the wins are sure to come in bunches.

Any Elba fan that hasn't watched the Tigers play needs to come out during the upcoming four-game home stand and see how the Tigers battle against such solid teams as Louisville, Luverne, Brantley and Enterprise. The wins may be hard to come by against such stiff opposition; however, the effort will be non-stop and you'll go away convinced that the Tigers leave nothing on the court. C'mon out and support the Tigers, they certainly deserve it!

INTERESTING WEEK FOR AREA CAGE TEAMS

It was an interesting week for area high school basketball teams as all the teams claimed wins. Here's a quick look back...

NEW BROCKTON (10-4) had lopsided wins over McKenzie and Southern Normal, but once again came up flat in a game and got waxed by Pleasant Home. The Gamecocks look like contenders some nights, and pretenders on others. Once they settle into a consistent team, the Gamecocks could still threaten for a trip to the big dance.

ZION CHAPEL (3-9) claimed wins over Arton and McKenzie and may be ready to finally turn the corner and become the team most folks expected. The Rebels have one of the best pure shooters around in Napoleon Smith and a force inside in Joey Herbert, and as soon as the players begin believing in themselves, the wins will come.

BRANTLEY (11-4) got a big win over Clayton and may be close to figuring out just what it is going to take to win big once again this season. The Bulldogs seemed to be a team looking for something to happen early in the year, but now appear ready to go, and we'll find out soon just what this bunch is really made of.

KINSTON (6-11) made a big win over county-rival Zion Chapel and despite its lackluster record seems to be improving each and every game. The Bulldogs don't really have all the weapons needed to win against top notch competition, but they do have the desire, and that will pay dividends as the season winds down.

1995 ESJC SOFTBALL GUIDE INTERESTING READING

I received the 1995 Enterprise State Junior College media guide last week and will give the coaches and publicity department credit for putting together a first class guide. The 35 page booklet wasn't a multi-colored, glossy publication like Florida State puts out every year in football; however, for a junior college it was excellent, and very informative. Good job!

While looking through the pages of the guide, I saw some names that looked mighty familiar in the listing of ESJC record holders. Elba's Amy Baker holds the Boll Weevil record for runs-batted-in in one game with eight, and is tied for the most hits in one game with five, as well as being tied for consecutive hits with eight. She is also tied for fourth in career walks with 10. Kenya Hammond is also found in many places among career leaders as she is tied for seventh in at-bats with 227, ranked fourth in runs scored with 60, ranked tenth in hits with 67, ranked fifth in fielding percentage with a mark of .922, tied for third in doubles with 8, tied for fifth in home-runs with 4 and is ranked eighth in put-outs with 156. Susan Johnson also made the record book and ranks seventh all-time with a fielding percentage of .909 and is ranked 6th in put-outs with 164.

Former Lady Tigers playing with the Lady Weevils this season will be Amy Baker, Amy White and Katrina Peterson. Baker had a banner season last year in batting .487 with 33 rbi's, not to mention her records, while White batted .356 a year ago and saw action in 33 games. Peterson had a big fall and should make the Tiger trio three of the top players on this year's squad.

With only 10 home dates on this year's schedule and 19 road dates, it may be hard to get to a game. However, Elba fans should check the schedule later this spring and try to make at least one game to cheer for these Elba grads.

KNOW A SHORT CUT? NEVER AGAIN!

Back several years ago Dr. Billy Farris tried to tell me about a short cut back from T.M. Rogers, and after getting confused, managed to make it back to Elba about three hours later than anyone else who made the trip to the state championship game. Last week I went to McKenzie to watch a basketball game, and made it to McKenzie with no problem. At the game I was told that I went the long way, however, and listened closely as I got directions on a short cut back to Elba. I headed back and found the first two roads with no trouble, but then missed a turn and some how ended up in downtown Dozier. After a call home to assure my family I was alive and well, just lost, I got directions and made it back to Elba. I'll admit I'm not much on directions, but will also admit I've taken my last short cut!

Mack Wood resigns football post at Elba

Elba High School's Mack Wood ended months of speculation last week when he announced his retirement after 18 ultra-successful years as the Tigers' head football coach and athletic director.

Wood, the winningest coach ever in the rich history of Elba Tiger football, retired with a career mark at Elba of 150 wins and 59 losses, and an overall career record of 214-90-4.

"I have always felt that what you do from January until August is more important than what you do from August until January," stated Coach Wood, "and I felt it was best for the program that I make the announcement now, instead of going through spring training and then making the announcement. I will remain at the school through March and will help in whatever way I can to help a new coach get settled in and get off to a solid start."

"There is never a good time to announce a retirement," added Wood, "but I guess the best time would have been back in 1992 after we had won a second state championship. When I came to Elba back in 1977 I didn't have any idea what I was getting into, and even after five and ten years I didn't think I'd still be around for so long. I had chances to move on and make the move to bigger schools; however, I love to coach football and I felt that at a bigger school the actual coaching was only a small part of the total job, and if I was going to coach, Elba was as good a job as any in the state."

The Elba Tigers had gone through four head football coaches over a span of five years and had posted a record of 16 wins and 24 losses the four years prior to Wood's arrival; however, once Coach Wood arrived to take over the reins of the Tigers, Elba's football fortunes began to improve almost immediately. A 6-4 record in his first year was followed by records of 8-2, 9-2 and 7-3, and the Elba Tigers were back among the state's top football programs after a brief absence. The Tigers posted their first undefeated regular season in thirty years in 1984, then made it to the state championship games in 1985 and 1986, only to settle for runner-up honors. Elba claimed its first state championship ever in 1989 when it won a school record 13 games, and repeated the feat in 1992, with a second state title and another 13-win campaign. During the seven year span from 1984 until 1990, Elba was the winningest football team in the state, claiming a total of 72 wins and losing only 19 games. The average of over 10 wins per season for seven straight years is a record that could quite possibly stand forever in Elba football history.

"There are really too many people to mention that played a part in our success while I was the head coach here at Elba," Wood added. "I would have to thank the hundreds of players that paid the price and competed on the football teams, and also thank all the assistant coaches who were loyal, dedicated and worked hard in hand to make the program the success it was. The staff and administration at Elba High School was supportive of what we tried to accomplish, as were the parents and fans that gave so much support to the overall athletic program. I just hope that everyone who supported the Elba Tigers over the past 18 years knows how much I appreciate everything they have done."

Wood's pending retirement had been hinted for the past three years, but became a source of constant conversation after the completion of the 1994 season.

"I have thought about retiring for a few years," admitted Wood, "but began to give it more thought over the past couple of years for various reasons. My health problems this past season made me stop and think, as did my own evaluation of the job I was doing on and off the field. It was a hard decision to make, but one that I gave a great deal of thought to, and one that I am now convinced was the right one to make."

"We had some mighty good times over the past 18 years," said Coach Wood, "and I'll always remember the big win over Andalusia, the big wins over Pike County and the two state championships."

For second win of week

Rebels outscore McKenzie 73-66

Zion Chapel's Shane Bragg (34) signals for teammates to pass him the basketball during the Rebels' big 73-66 win over McKenzie last Friday night in McKenzie.

The Zion Chapel Rebels claimed their second win of the week Friday night as they jumped out to an early lead and held on late to defeat the McKenzie Tigers 73-66, in McKenzie.

McKenzie held an early 4-2 lead over the Rebels, but a three-pointer by Napoleon Smith gave Zion Chapel a 5-4 lead with 5:28 left in the first quarter, and by the time Smith drained another three-pointer with 2:51 left in the stanza, the Rebels' lead was up to 14-7.

Zion Chapel took complete control late in the quarter and blew the game open as Joey Herbert scored two buckets in the final minute of action to enable the Rebels to extend their lead to 22-7.

The game became a little ragged early in the second stanza and Zion Chapel seemed out of sync as the Rebels went over five minutes without a field-goal. While the Rebel offense was struggling, the defense never missed a beat, and the Rebels survived the sluggish start to actually increase their lead to 34-14 with 1:25 left in the quarter.

The Tigers went on a brief 6-0 run to cut the lead to 34-20 with :46 left on the clock; however, the Rebels again answered the challenge and went in at the half with a 38-20 advantage after late baskets by Napoleon Smith and Andre Flowers.

McKenzie was determined to get back in the hunt as the third quarter opened and did just that as the Tigers went on an early 9-1 run to chop the Zion Chapel lead to 39-29 with 5:40 left in the quarter.

A jumper by Shane Bragg and a three-pointer by Napoleon Smith pushed the Rebels lead back up to 42-29 with 4:28 left in the stanza, and Zion Chapel turned back another Tiger rally late in the stanza to carry a 48-37 lead into the final quarter of play.

Kinston gets revenge with 69-50 win over Zion Chapel

The Kinston Bulldogs jumped out to a big early lead and never looked back last Tuesday night as they clobbered the Zion Chapel Rebels 69-50, in Kinston.

The Bulldogs' offense came out ready to run against their cross-country rivals and led by the three-point bombs of Richard Chambliss and the inside strength of Darin Moody jumped out to a 20-10 first quarter advantage.

Moody continued to be a one-man wrecking crew in the second stanza as he poured in 9 points to help Kinston build up a 36-20 half-time lead; however, Zion Chapel began to show signs of life in the third quarter and behind the play of Joey Herbert and Napoleon Smith rallied to cut the deficit to 50-39.

The final stanza was marred by fouls, but Kinston managed to hit key free-throws down the stretch to pull away and claim the big 69-50 win.

Darin Moody scored 31 points to lead Kinston, while Anthony

Jones added 10. Napoleon Smith and Joey Herbert both scored 12 points for Zion Chapel.

this office.

"He didn't run for it for political power, for self advertising, but to have an impact on the community in which he lives and to try to make a really honest effort to make a difference."

After having the oath of office administered to them, District Judge Blair swore in probation officers Eva McGrath, Janice Neville and Gary Watson.

Circuit Judge Head administered the oath-of-office to the newly elected Sheriff of Coffee County Ben Moates and his deputies.

Also recognized for his service for the past eight months was interim sheriff Mickey Counts. He was appointed by the Governor to sheriff the remainder of Coffee County Sheriff Brice Paul's term of office after his resignation.

A reception followed the ceremony allowing the many friends in attendance to "Howdy" with their new officials.

Official ratification of the contract for services.

Haywood asked the city council to authorize him to write a letter asking for four things from the engineering firm.

1. Hard copy of documentation of bills paid.
2. Waiver of payment on the new bills for $17,626.50.
3. Refund all money paid thus far by the City of Elba.

4. Written report on the status of the permit request.

Council member John W. Sharpless made the motion "as the mayor stated it". Council member Earl McCollough seconded and it passed unanimously. (Council members Bill Brinson and Brad Wilson were absent).

In other business, Haywood reported that City Attorney Mark Vaughan noted the charges filed against Council member Earl McCollough were scheduled for District Court on February 5th.

He said that Vaughan might be representing McCollough in his official capacity as a city official and therefore would be unable to serve as city prosecutor in the matter.

The meeting adjourned after the city council authorized Haywood and Vaughan to employ an attorney to serve as prosecutor in the matter. McCollough abstained from voting on the matter.

ENTERTAINING AT THE NURSING HOME Dustin Rhoades, son of Dwayne and Debbie Rhoades, of the Perry Store Community, is shown singing for the residents of the Elba Nursing Home last Saturday afternoon. Many of the residents were crowded around the young man enjoying the music and/or enjoying seeing the youngster's performance.

When Dustin performs at public events such as this, either his father or his mother joins him and controls the tape player which accompanies him during his country music singing. Saturday afternoon it was dad's turn to start the music.

Dustin has entertained the public at beauty contest, Christmas Festivals and other events in the Elba area.

was the extra money received from annual property tax payments and city-sales tax. Members who often face hard decisions to make the budget balance were obviously relieved to hear the good news.

The District E (Elba) and county-wide property taxes were up as was the November city sales tax receipts. Pearce said this represents a 20% increase over budget projections of three months ago.

The District E tax check from the Coffee County Revenue Commissioner for January was $80,404.68; the Elba portion of the county wide tax was $46,143.05 for the same period. The school's 45% portion of the new 1¢ Elba sales tax received in January was $11,522.14. This was taxes collected by Elba merchants in November.

The school system ended December with a $58,000 increase in the general fund. The influx of property tax and increased sales tax, plus $20,000 from the Alabama Public School Fund (Elba receives this check four times a year) puts the Elba schools in a healthy position, Pearce explained with a smile.

$20,000 of the $40,000 borrowed from a local bank in September has been repaid, board members were told. The balance will be repaid within 30 days.

A review of the financial statement shows the Child Nutrition Fund balance has regained some of the reserve it lost during heavy purchases for opening of school. That fund now totals $46,426.09, near the two month operating minimum reserve recommended by state authorities and the goal established by the school board.

Pearce reported he is pleased that the Elba school system has been selected as a pilot school for both the State Evaluation System and Performance Based Accreditation Review.
